Tri-Valley Lions Installation of Officers

The Tri-Valley Lions held their 2018-2019 installation of officers dinner at Frankie and Johnnies in Hurleyville. It was held on Tuesday, June 5, 2018. There was a festive dinner celebration and Certificates of Appreciation were handed out. Then all the past, new and re-elected officers crowded together for a group photo. In the photo in front row on the right is the new president, Donna Schick.

Fallsburg Jr High School Robotics Team Compete at International Competition

From April 25-April 28, 2018 two teams from Fallsburg Jr. High School competed at the annual International Robotics Competition in Louisville, Kentucky. Representing New York State were the following students: Hannah Nikolai, Kai Schreier, Hunter Doty, Michael Storms, Lexi Peters, Oliver Norminton, Aidan Ferris, Josias Pierre and Landen Berry. Several parents supported their children by attending the competition. (Contd. Pg. 4)

Tri-Valley Teachers' Association Recognizes Partners in Education

On Thursday, June 7, the Tri-Valley Teachers' Association provided dinner for our Board of Education members, administrators, nighttime custodial staff, and Mr. and Mrs. Pena. The dinner-prepared by the Barista Bears, under the direction of Mrs. Tanya Huggler and Mrs. Donna Brooks-was meant to show our appreciation. (Contd. Pg. 8)

The Scene Too

Jane Harrison

What was the signal of the never ending winter's final end? The day I pulled into the Neversink General Store and saw, of all things, banana trees adorning the posts to the entrance!!! I understand the owners, Mark and Chris have done this every year but to those of us who have just discovered the store, I found this absolutely delightful in much the same way as seeing the first crocus (which, by the way, I saw NONE of this year) (Contd. UC Executive Mike Hein Signs Legislation Raising the Age to Purchase Tobacco Products to 21 Into Law

Law Aims To Reduce Youth Smoking Rate and Long-Term Health Risks
Ellenville, N.Y.-- Today, Ulster County Executive Mike Hein was joined by Commissioner of Health and Mental Health Dr. Carol Smith; County Legislators Kathy Nolan, Tracey Bartels, Brian Woltman; Steve Kelley, President and CEO of Ellenville Regional Hospital, and public health advocates to sign into law landmark legislation raising the age of tobacco purchase in Ulster County to 21. The law, known as Tobacco 21 will take effect on January 1, 2019. Tobacco 21 builds on Ulster County's strong commitment to public health and reducing smoking-related illnesses. Previously, the County Executive worked with the County Legislature to restrict smoking on county-owned property and enhance enforcement of laws prohibiting the marketing of tobacco products to youth. (Contd. Pg 6)

OBITUARY

Gary Robert O'Donnell of Grahamsville, a local mechanic and lifelong resident of the area, passed away with his family by his side Sunday, June 3rd, 2018 at the young age of 57.

The son of the late Lawrence G. O'Donnell Sr. and Doris L. Creeden-O'Donnell, he was born July 13, 1960 in Middletown.

As an avid race car driver and pit member of many teams at Bethel Motor Speedway, he was a two time over all track champion there in 1979 and 1995. As well as winning over 150 feature wins between three separate tracks. He was a past member of the Grahamsville Fire Department and was a current member of Chitown Large Cars where helping people proved to be his favorite hobby. However, his greatest pride and accomplishments came from his family.

He is survived by his daughter: Serra Gene O'Donnell (Ryan McDowall); a son: Daniel O'Donnell; his long-time companion Debra Newell; two bonus children: Ashley & Joshua Johnson; five grandchildren: Kayleigh, Gabriella, Patrick Daniel, Isabella & Leroy Jr.; Sisters: Tammy (Andy Reagan); Audrey (Larry Valentia); Brothers: Larry Jr. O'Donnell (Heather Mann); Jerry O'Donnell; nephew: Christopher Cooper; nieces: Shelby O'Donnell and Ashley Valentia; Serra's mother Faith (Keith Moore) and his favorite "granpups" Turbo & Daisy.

A funeral service was held on Saturday, June 9th at the VanInwegen-Kenny Funeral Home in Monticello. Burial followed at the Bullville Cemetery.

Arrangements are under the direction of the VanInwegen-Kenny, Inc. Funeral Home of Monticello NY; for additional information or to send an online condolence, please visit www.kennyfuneralhome.com

Days of Yore...

Today's History

June 23, 1948 -Supervising Principal W. Eugene Ross announced this week the selection of Lawrence H. Cooke as the featured speaker of the second annual Commencement Exercises of the Tri-Valley School to be held in the Grahamsville Memorial Hall at 8:30 p.m. on the evening of June 28th. Mr. Cooke, one of the most prominent lawyers in Sullivan County, lives in Monticello where he serves as Supervisor for the Town of Thompson, and presides over the County Board of Supervisors as its Chairman.

There are seventeen students who are expected to be recipients of diplomas and awards during the ceremony. They are: Patricia Ackerley, John Coley, James Costa, Jean Cross, Raymond Denman, Alice Donaldson, Joan Donohue, Barbara Knox, Milton Kortright, Richard Krom, Richard Misner, Patricia Porter, George Sherman, Rose Marie Singer, Donald Terwilliger, Elizabeth Terwilliger and Joyce Van Wagner.

Mrs. Madeline Adams entertained her upper Ulster Heights school pupils to a picnic at the Grover Hornbeck home Sunday. A very pleasant time was had by all.

June 18, 1958 -Future enrollments at Tri Valley Central School, Grahamsville were assured of adequate housing when the voters of the district went to the polls last Thursday on the proposition of a $785,000 bond issue -- The bond proposal called for the erection of a new wing to the present structure which was built in 1950. The new wing will house 14 elementary classrooms, a new 280 pupil-capacity cafeteria, a new vocational agriculture center, a new double-station gymnasium, and alterations to the present building so that it may be used solely as a secondary school. Construction is expected to get under way by this fall. Harry Halverson and Associates of Kingston are the architects.

On Thursday evening of last week at 8:30 p.m. Mr. Vincent Zanetti and Mrs. Sam Anderson attended the meeting of the Sullivan County Postmasters Association in Liberty. At this meeting, Mr. Edwin C. Doulin, the New York Regional Field Service Officer, assured them that the mail service would continue as it has been in the past with the exception of the Post Office at Lackawack which will close on July 1st.

June 19, 1968 - Publication of The Townsman will relocate in space provided at the Sullivan County National Bank in the Grahamsville Branch. The present facility has been in use for 21 years. The new working area will provide a large parking area. The Townsman wishes to express its gratitude to Mr. Thomas Crispell for his cooperation over the years in conjunction with the production of the paper.

The Sullivan County Public Health Nursing Service has moved to new quarters on the grounds of the County Infirmary in Liberty. The move will provide greater efficiency in serving health needs of the County's 48,000 residents according to Miss Anne Haverly, Supervising Nurse in charge of the Service. June 22, 1978 -Stop in the Grahamsville Branch of the Sullivan County National Bank on June 28th between 1:00 and 3 p.m. to say "Good-bye" to Mrs. Yolanda Thomas. Mrs. Thomas is leaving shortly for the State of Washington with her husband Jack. Mr. Thomas is employed by the Telephone Company and was transferred there during the winter. Mrs. Thomas has been with the SCNB for ten years. We wish her good fortune in her new home.

Airman First Class Paul Hnatiw is home on a two week leave from F.E. Warren Air Force Base in Cheyenne, Wyoming, and is visiting his parents, Walter and Ann Hnatiw in Sundown. Paul expects to be shipped to Misawa Air Force Base in Hakaio, Japan after his leave is up.

Fireman Tommy Van Wagner is home on a thirty day furlough and is visiting his parents Floyd and Gladys Van Wagner. Tommy is station on the LSD Mt. Vernon at San Diego, California.

Presentation on Columbia Hill School at Ethelbert B. Crawford Library

On June 14, Paul Lounsbery will be joining Gordon MacAdam for the evening's presentation. Paul will offer interesting facts, a rare collection of business records and other artifacts from the Columbia Hill School that he has found.

The talk begins at 6 pm at the new Ethelbert B. Crawford Library on Broadway in Monticello (across from St. Peter's Church at Liberty Street).

No reservations are required, but seating is limited.

A Round About Tri-Valley

Carol Furman

Condolences to the family and friends of Gary R. O'Donnell of Grahamsville. Gary passed away on June 3rd at the age of 57. Gary was an avid race car driver and pit crew member of many teams at the Bethel Motor Speedway.

Kudos to Kalic Perry and Thomas Van Sadlers who had the chance to compete against NYS's elite track and field athletes at the NYS track and field championships held at Cicero-Nort High School on June 8th and 9th. Kalic competed in the triple jump and Tom competed in the 400 hurdles. As I write this article, I have not heard how our Tri-Valley athletes fared, however, it is an honor to even qualify for this elite meet.

Thank you Jamie and Neversink Parks and Rec for a wonderful trip to the Westchester Dinner Theater on June 1st. The luncheon was delicious and the play, "Sister Act", was awesome!

The Tri-Valley sixth graders are spending June 13-15 at Frost Valley YMCA Camp in Claryville. This annual class trip, which allows the sixth graders to spend three days and two nights at Frost Valley, has become a tradition for the 6th graders since the early 90's. Frost Valley provides a setting to enhance positive and healthy behaviors and creates an opportunity for the students to discover and develop their potentialities. The kids look forward to this trip each year!

The Elementary School Spring Music Assembly was held at Tri-Valley on June 7th. There were performances by the fourth grade chorus, the 5th and 6th grade band and class songs from grades 1 through 4. It's always nice to see these youngsters perform.

On June 8th, the Ruth Scully Awards were presented to students in grade 5. Ruth Scully, for those who don't know, taught reading at the Tri-Valley Elementary School for many years and passed away unexpectedly at a relatively young age in the mid 80's. She was an exemplary teacher and a role model for many. She loved children and she loved her job! It is indeed an honor for a child to be selected to receive a Ruth Scully Award!

The school year is winding down. The 6th graders will have their "moving-up" ceremony on June 21st and will be in Jr. HS in the fall. High School Seniors will be leaving Tri-Valley and many will look forward to attending college following graduation. Congrats to all and remember, "whether you believe you can do a thing or not, you are right!"

I read an article some time ago that listed 8 gifts that do not cost a cent. 1) the gift of Listening, 2) the gift of Affection, 3) the gift of Laughter, 4) the gift of a Written Note, 5) the gift of a Compliment, 6) the gift of a Favor, 7) the gift of Solitude and 9) the gift of a Cheerful Disposition.

WORDS OF WISDOM: Conscience doesn't always keep you from doing certain things - it just keeps you from enjoying them.

The worst thing about opportunity is that you can't see it until you look back ten years.

"I must do something" will always solve more problems than "Something must be done".

Jeff Senterman takes seat on CWC Board

(From Pg. 1) Filling a seat that has been vacant for more than two years, Jeff comes with experience in community and land use planning, as well as program management with the New York-New Jersey Trail Conference. An avid outdoorsman, he served for a time as an assistant forest ranger for the NYS DEC. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Lyndon State College in Vermont, with a concentration in environmental science.

The CWC Board is made up of 12 locally-elected officials, a New York State representative appointed by the Governor, and a representative of New York City appointed by the NYC Mayor, in addition to the environmental rep.

Coffee with the Sheriff

Following the successful debut of its newest community outreach program entitled, "Coffee with the Sheriff", the Sullivan County Sheriff's Office is proud to announce that the next meeting will take place at the Grahamsville Deli on Saturday June 16, 2018 from 9:00 AM to 11:00 AM. Members of the general public are invited to stop by, have a free cup of coffee, and speak with Sheriff Mike Schiff about any law enforcement concerns they may have.

"The initial "Coffee with the Sheriff" meeting in Youngsville on June 2nd was a huge success", said Sheriff Schiff. "We had 75 to 80 people pass through over the two hour period. Some stopped by just to say hello, others had something on their mind that they wanted to discuss. In all it was a great success", said the Sheriff. "We look forward to our next meeting in Grahamsville".

The Grahamsville Deli and General Store is located at 164 Main Street in Grahamsville, NY on State Route 55 just up from the blinking light and intersection with State Route 42.

Sullivan County Announces 2018 HHW Events!

Monticello, NY - Public Works Committee Chair Joe Perrello is pleased to announce that Sullivan County will host three residential Household Hazardous Waste Collection Events in 2018. The first is scheduled for Saturday, June 23, 2018 from 2:30-5:30 p.m. The second is scheduled for Sunday, August 19, 2018 from 9 a.m.-2 p.m., and the third is set for Saturday, September 15, 2018 from 2:30-5:30 p.m. All events will be staged at the Monticello Transfer Station's Scale House area at 91 Landfill Drive.

"We urge people to participate in this environmentally-conscious chemical cleanup program," stated Legislator Perrello. "These items can be dangerous to people and the environment if stored for extensive periods of time or disposed of improperly."

This program is open to individuals with residences in Sullivan County ONLY. Although there is no charge to participate, preregistration is required. Please call 845-807-0291 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. weekdays to preregister.

These events are intended to collect and properly manage residentially-generated hazardous household materials, including herbicides, pesticides, mercury-containing items, cleaning products, pool chemicals, smoke detectors, fire extinguishers, fluorescent bulbs, lead-based/oil-based paints, solvents, acids, bases, old fuels (stale gasoline/2-cycle fuel mix), automotive batteries, antifreeze and preservatives, just to name a few. For additional information about these household hazardous waste cleanup events or questions about safer alternatives to hazardous materials in general, please contact Bill Cutler, Recycling Coordinator, at 845-807-0291 in the Sullivan County Department of Solid Waste & Recycling.

Details and event flyers can also be found on the Sullivan County website, www.sullivanny.us.

The following pertains to this event:

• Proof of Residency (2 Forms of ID) Required for Event Admission!

ACCEPTABLE ITEMS: Solvents, oil-based paints, stale fuels, anti-freeze, pool chemicals, acids, bases, poisons, fluorescent bulbs, fire extinguishers, smoke detectors, cleaning products, mercury-containing devices, pesticides/herbicides, consumer batteries (all types), automotive batteries, roofing tar, wood preservatives, adhesives, creosote, stains and inks.

UNACCEPTABLE ITEMS: NO Radioactive materials, explosives, ammunition, electronics, bulk liquids/drums/tanks larger than 5 gallons, LP/gas tanks, medical waste, refrigeration devices, latex paint. NO commercial, industrial or agricultural waste.

This Program is made possible by the Sullivan County Legislature and NYSDEC HHW

Event Pre-Registration Procedure for 2018: All participants MUST pre-register by calling 845-807-0291 prior to June 22, 2018 between 9 AM—3 PM Mon.—Fri.

If you get the voicemail message, please leave your name, address, phone number and list of HHW materials to be disposed of. There is no charge to participate! NEXT HHW EVENT: SUNDAY, AUGUST 19, 2018

Bethel, County Partner on Health Chats

White Lake, NY - Sullivan County Public Health Services and the Town of Bethel Healthy Community Task Force invite you to a series of Health Chats throughout this summer!

"The chats will be just that: interactive, conversational and informative," promised Public Health Director Nancy McGraw. "And we won't keep you for more than an hour!"

The chats will be held from 6-7 p.m. at the Duggan Community Center, Route 55, White Lake, on the following dates:

- June 26 - Ticks, Rabies and Other Things That Bug You
- July 17 - Narcan Training (pre-registration required by calling 845-292-5910, ext. 2178)
- August 21 - Sugar Shock and Healthy Eating

The Task Force will provide supervised activities for children during the adult-oriented programs, so feel free to bring the family.

"We are very happy to be partnering with Public Health Services to bring this important information to our neighbors," said Bethel Town Supervisor Dan Sturm.

For more information, reach out to Public Health Services at 845-292-5910, ext. 0 or the Task Force at 845-583-4350, ext. 110.

Nature Column - Linda Comando

"Jack" Will Make his Regal Appearance

It is that time again when we will begin to see another "Jack" back in the neighborhood. This time it won't be Jack Frost, but Jack in the Pulpit! Right now if you are out in the woods and come across one of this amazing plants, you may only see the trifoliate leaves, but in a short time you might see the flower that will look like a Sunday-morning preacher (Jack) ready to deliver his sermon (pulpit) to any passers-by

Jack-in-the-Pulpit

This native plant, also called Indian turnip, is unmistakable in our moist woods.

This plant enjoys growing in open glades in the forest in rich, moist soil. They are an herbaceous perennial growing from a corm with trifoliate leaves with a flower contained in a spadix, or club, covered by a striped hood reminiscent of an old-fashioned pulpit.

A Jack-in-the-Pulpit (Arisaema triphyllum) is classified in the Arum family (Araceae) along with skunk cabbage and the calla lily. It grows from 12-18" tall from an underground stem or corm. In spring it sends up a stout stem that looks like a green candle which unrolls into two three pointed leaves and a flower stalk.

Tiny white flowers cluster around a finger-like shape that we call Jack (spadix) and a leaf-like canopy arches over the spadix. This pulpit (spathe) is striped with maroon and green or white and green. Some botanists say this is due to sunny conditions during growth so that dark Jacks are found in shady deep woods, light Jacks in open locations, however, I've found both growing side by side and tend to think that sunlight isn't the only determinant deciding the coloration factor.

The two large green, compound, long-petioled leaves (1-1.5' long), divided into three leaflets each, emanate upward from a single stalk and provide umbrella-like shade to the flower. The fleshy stalk and leaves lend an almost tropical aura to the plant. Flowering plants initially produce only male flowers, but become hermaphroditic as they mature over the course of several years (male flowers are on the upper part of spadix and female on lower part). Most plants in a colony will vanish by mid-summer and become dormant, but the mature, hermaphroditic flowering plant will expose a cluster of green berries as the pulpit dries up and drops off. Toward the end of summer the berries will ripen and become bright red and will be quite visible. Birds and animals find the berries to be a tasty treat.

American pioneers learned from the Native Americans to look for this distinctive plant in spring in moist eastern woodlands. They called it Bog Onion. They also learned that the bulb was poisonous when eaten raw but became a safe, spicy delicacy when cooked.

In the spring, when the bear come out of hibernation they will root out and eat Jack-in-the-Pulpit as the irritating peppery bulb expands the bear's shrunken bowels to normalcy.

According to some Native American tribes, this plant was initially thought to be a great 'diagnostic' tool. The seeds were often dropped into small pools of water, and if they floated, then the patient would survive; if they sank, however, then the patient would get sicker or even die.

A preparation of the root was reported to have been used by Native Americans as a treatment for sore eyes. Preparations were also made to treat rheumatism, bronchitis, and snakebites. One report on "Indian Turnips" claims the Meskwaki Indians, the "people of red earth" of Algonquian origin, used the acrid seeds to poison their enemies during the heat of battle. They would poison their meats with the seeds!

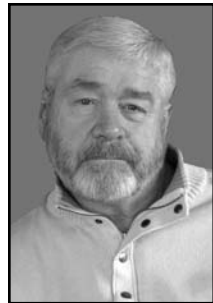

On your next woodland walk, I hope you find one of these uncommonly pretty flowers. With care, they can be transplanted to your garden. Or, there is another choice - you can order a Jack-in-the-Pulpit from a wildflower catalog.

Household Hints

Don't Throw Away the Spaghetti Sauce Jars or Parmesan Cheese Lids

Save the lid from a Parmesan cheese container. It fits on a mason jar. Classico spaghetti sauce jars are actually mason jars that fit!

There are so many ways to use the jars with the lids. They are great for cheese, especially if you buy in bulk or grate your own. They are great to hold Cinnamon Sugar to sprinkle on toast, or Confectioner's sugar, etc. Use them for crafts. They are great to hold beads. The possibilities are endless!

Dangerous Boys

Mysterious Book Report No. 338

by John Dwaine McKenna

In the summer of 1984, a series of heat waves blasted the northeast United States in rapid succession, one after another. It's particularly hot in the old whaling port of New Bedford, Massachusetts, where the usual cooling ocean breezes have disappeared, leaving the city in a steaming humid mess of baking sidewalks, human sweat and bad tempers. It's where four lifelong friends are coming of age in a gripping new novel by one of the best crime fiction and horror writers in the country.

Dangerous Boys, (Down & Out Books, PB, $17.95, 308 pages, ISBN 978-1-946502-52-0) by Greg G. Gifune, is so compelling, you won't be able to put it down; so well written, you'll feel the heat and humidity; and so heartbreakingly real that you'll feel sort of sorry for the lost boys at the same time you're disgusted by their behavior, and utterly repulsed by their savagery and criminality.

Aldo, Richie, Dino, Fritz and Petie are young bad-asses on the verge of adulthood: too old to be doing what they're doing, and too young to act like adults. They've known each other since grade school, hung out and raised hell together. Fact is, they're thugs who've been committing petty crimes and getting picked up by the cops ever since they were seven years old. Now it's decision time, but only Richie Lionetti wants out. He wants something better because he knows that they can't continue as they are, and he doesn't want the life of crime, or the dull, back-breaking, life-ending jobs his friends are destined for. Richie dreams of getting out. Out of the gang. Out of his nowhere life. And out of New Bedford, where his mother – his only living relative – is slowly killing herself with booze and heroin. So, Richie agrees when Aldo proposes the heist . . . the really big-time job that'll put them over the top, into the big leagues and a whole new dimension of criminality . . . the job that can't go wrong if we stick to the plan. Yeah. Right. This novel transcends time and space. It drops the reader smack dab into the hottest summer imaginable, at the point of no return for the young protagonists in this dark, dark noir thriller that made the MBR an instant fan of the work of Greg G. Gifune!

Coach Donald Thomas said that several of the kids had never been in an airplane before. The few days in Louisville were jam-packed with scheduled activities in preparation for the competition and in the heat of the event. Each night the teams were utterly exhausted. The competitions began on Wednesday afternoon (the 25th) and ended on Saturday morning. In all 188 Middle School teams competed. Fallsburg's 99561-C Team earned a 60th place; the 99561-D Team earned 61st place. The scores do not tell the whole story.

During the early part of the event, the Fallsburg C team of Oliver Norminton, Aidan Ferris, Josias Pierre and Landen Berry defeated handily the team that ended up as #1 from Shanghai, China. Shortly afterward, disaster struck. The team's programming computer died out. In the vastness of the venue and in the confusion, no one could locate the replacement files, and the students had no choice but to rebuild the files on their own. Ordinarily this process could take 20-30 hours. Because these kids knew what to do and because their alliance team from Ohio helped them, they got the computer working in twenty minutes!

In subsequent matches, the robots regained some memory in the system programming, but it was too little too late, according to Mr. Thomas. It was a painful learning experience, but the students showed great resourcefulness under pressure.

The teams are excited about next year's theme, "Turning Point." Oliver Norminton "was eager to get new equipment and get ready for next year. Fallsburg is enthusiastic about hosting the first regional competition on December 15 2018 in the High School Gymnasium.

Sullivan County Tax Auction Postponed Until August

Repurchase Deadline Extended to July 31, 2018
Monticello, NY - Legislators unanimously agreed yesterday to reschedule Sullivan County's 2018 Real Estate Tax Foreclosure Auction to August 29, 2018.

Several last-minute pleas from residents who wanted to repurchase their properties led the Legislature to decide that the auction, typically held in June every year, should be postponed to allow further time for repurchases.

"People fall on hard times, and we as a Legislature understand that," Chairman Luis Alvarez stated. "We don't want to unduly burden taxpayers, though there is a process they need to follow."

That process is stipulated by law, noted County Treasurer Nancy Buck.

"For over 17 years, I've strictly adhered to NYS Real Property Tax Law and Sullivan County local law," she explained. "I don't pick and choose, but I do want to help."

Buck said the deadline for repurchasing foreclosed properties has now been extended to July 31, 2018. Those seeking to take advantage of this extension need to contact her office as soon as possible at 845-807-0200 or in person at the Government Center, 100 North Street, Monticello.

"This is the right thing to do for the residents of Sullivan County. We needed to give the public an additional option," said Vice Chair Nadia Rajsz of the Legislature's 8-0 decision. (Legislator Scott Samuelson was at a NYS Association of Counties Board meeting and was unable to attend.)

"As a Legislature, our first priority is to represent the interests of the public, and I felt very strongly in this case that could only be served by allowing people to stay in their homes," explained District 9 Legislator and Majority Leader Alan Sorensen. "Sometimes you have to revisit your policies and do the right thing, which we did. I feel good about it."

On-Farm Safety Class with Spanish Translation

FERNDALE, NY-Nearly 100 agricultural workers are injured on the job every day, resulting in lost time at work, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Farming is one of the most dangerous professions in the United States, and educating farmers on safety is extremely important.

Farm business owners and managers are encouraged to attend an On-Farm Safety class with New York Center for Agricultural Medicine and Health (NYCAMH). Cornell Cooperative Extension Sullivan County (CCESC) offers this FREE program from 5:00 to 7:00 pm at Hudson Valley Foie Gras on 80 Brooks Road in Ferndale.

Jim Carrabba of NYCAMH will present the importance of chemical safety for managers and their employees on the farm. Wanda V. Cruz, CCESC healthy communities coordinator will offer Spanish language translation and materials in both English and Spanish will be provided.

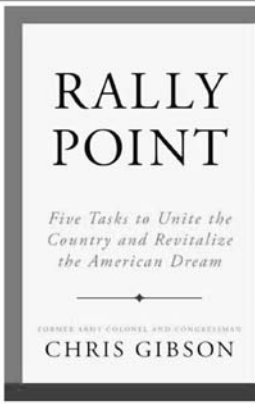

This class is FREE. Registration can be completed online at www.sullivanccce.org, by emailing sullivan@cornell.edu, or calling 845-292-6180. In the event of special needs, please contact the CCESC office.

The Olive Jar - By Carol LaMonda

Bleacher Bottom

We just came from a soccer game where my youngest granddaughter was a super star scoring at least three goals. She is fast, coordinated and "Velcro-ed" to that soccer ball. Fathers from Woodstock on the bleachers were overheard saying, "Wow, that number 15 from Olive is terrific!" That athletic ability did not pass from my DNA to her.

No one ever said that about me. I run like a chicken, lob a ball like a sissy, swim like bulldog (they cannot swim because they are too chest heavy), and have a hard time walking without tripping over my own feet. I can, however float like a champ. It must be all that buoyant cellulite.

My mother took me to six years of ballet lessons, so I cannot imagine what a klutz I would be without them. All they did is help me fall gracefully to the ground when I stumbled over a rock or twig.

We also did not have sports in high school. We square danced and did exercises in our sweaty, red, bloomed gym suits. No one who was popular would walk around carrying a stinky gym suit to take home to wash, so they festered in our locker from September to June. Girls were cheerleaders or twirlers. Title IX, enacted in 1972, came too late for me. This law stated "No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance." Perhaps I might have been a sports star. Well, that's my excuse, and I'm sticking to it.

I have put in more hours than my share sitting on bleachers. Two sons did wrestling, football, little league baseball and track. Grandkids added soccer, wrestling and track and to my sore bleacher-bottom.

Now, as a side-line sport's enthusiast, I come prepared with my fold-up chair, pillow and blanket. Socks, mittens and hats and are in the car for inclement weather. No more bleachers for me.

Go fifteen. Score. Go team!

UC Executive Mike Hein Signs Legislation Raising the Age to Purchase Tobacco Products to 21 Into Law (From Pg. 1)

Michael Hein, Ulster County Executive

"I am proud to sign Tobacco 21 into law today and recognize the incredibly important work by our department of Health and Mental Health and local community partners to advance this vital legislation. It will help prevent many people from ever experiencing the severe health impacts of smoking in the future by making it more difficult to start," said Ulster County Executive Mike Hein. "The statistics are staggering. Each day it is estimated that more than 3,200 children under the age of 18 smoke their first cigarette. This law will improve long-term health outcomes and help protect our County's youth, increasing their opportunity for a stronger, healthier, and brighter future. Simply put it will greatly reduce human suffering, and that is why I have been strongly advocating for this for two years."

Passage of Tobacco 21 represents a three-year hard-fought victory for Ulster County and many public health advocates and those in the healthcare community who have sought to reduce youth smoking rates by delaying the age at which smokers start. According to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, cigarette smoking is responsible for more than 480,000 deaths per year in the United States, including more than 41,000 as the result of secondhand smoke.

Dr. Carol Smith, Ulster County Commissioner of Health and Mental Health

"This law is about reducing human suffering, saving lives, and protecting our children," said Dr. Carol Smith, Ulster County Commissioner of Health and Mental Health. "As a physician and as a parent, I could not be more proud of County Executive Mike Hein and the Ulster County Legislature for embracing the facts and for taking such a strong stance to protect the children of Ulster County."

Kathy Nolan, Ulster County Legislator

"Encouraging teens and young adults to avoid tobacco products can prevent a lifetime of addiction and all its attendant health impacts," said Ulster County Legislator Kathy Nolan. "As a pediatrician, I immediately recognized the health benefits that come from making it harder for adolescents and older teens to purchase tobacco and vaping products. This new law makes it easier for stores and youth social groups to avoid participating in the early addiction of a new generation of impressionable young people. I am proud to have worked with County Executive Mike Hein to help guide Tobacco 21 through the Ulster County Legislature."

Tracey Bartels, Ulster County Legislator

"As the parent of a young child and a policy maker, I can think of no job more important than protecting our youth," said Ulster County Legislator Tracey Bartels. "Tobacco is the number one cause of preventable death in this country, more than 480,000 annually. This legislation seeks to correct that tragic reality and its effect will be felt for generations to come. Limiting young people's access to deadly nicotine products will result in lives saved. I am proud to be a sponsor of this legislation and grateful for the support of my fellow Legislators and the County Executive."

Steve Kelley, President and CEO of Ellenville Regional Hospital

"We salute County Executive Mike Hein for his leadership for fighting the single most preventable healthcare problem: Tobacco Addiction -- which causes many serious health problems including premature death," said Steve Kelley, President and CEO of Ellenville Regional Hospital. "I applaud Executive Mike Hein for championing this important life-saving legislation!"

Caitlin O'Brien, Government Relations Director of the American Heart and Stroke Association

"The American Heart/American Stroke Association applauds Ulster County for standing up to the tobacco industry and passing Tobacco 21," said Caitlin O'Brien, Director of Government Relations Director for the American Heart and Stroke Association. "We are confident that this commonsense law will have a significant impact on the health of Ulster County residents. This measure brings us one step closer to a future where smoking-related illnesses are a thing of the past for the majority of the population."

Ellen Reinhard, Director of Tobacco Free Action Communities (TFAC) in Ulster, Dutchess and Sullivan

"Tobacco Free Action Communities in Ulster, Dutchess and Sullivan (TFAC) applauds Ulster County Executive Mike Hein and the Ulster County Legislature for continuing to take life-saving steps to protect our children and our community from tobacco," said Ellen Reinhard, Director of Tobacco Free Action Communities (TFAC) in Ulster, Dutchess and Sullivan. "90% of all adult smokers start smoking before they reach 21, raising the legal sale age for all tobacco products to 21 is another critical step that will help prevent our young people from facing a lifelong addiction to tobacco. It will reduce the death, disease and health care costs caused by tobacco use and improve the overall health of our Ulster County communities."

Kyleel Iniguez, Graduating Senior, Kingston High School

"I know a lot of kids from my neighborhood who use tobacco, and many adults who are sick from smoking," said Kyleel Iniguez, a graduating senior at Kingston High School. "It is great to know that Ulster County will now protect even more young people from tobacco use."

Kristina Wieneke, Director of Public Policy, American Lung Association

"We are proud to see Ulster County raise the age of sale of tobacco to 21. Today, 28.8% of high school students in New York State use tobacco products," said Kristina Wieneke Director of Advocacy for the American Lung Association in New York. "As of today, over 20 New York State municipalities, covering 73.2% of New Yorkers, have stood up to protect our young people and save lives. Together, we are sending the message to Albany that it's time to pass a statewide Tobacco 21 law."

Julie Hart, Government Relations Director, American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network

"Tobacco 21 makes sense. The longer we can keep youth away from tobacco products, the less likely they are to begin this deadly addiction," said Julie Hart, Director, NY Government Relations, American Cancer Society, Cancer Action Network. "Ulster County Executive Hein and lawmakers have taken an important step to protect kids from big tobacco."

CWC June Board Actions

The Catskill Watershed Corp. Board of Directors took the following actions at its monthly meeting June 5:

Stormwater

Hunter Mountain, which is planning a new ski trail and parking lot expansion, will receive up to $790,563 for design and implementation of stormwater controls. . . . O'Connor Hospital in Delhi will also be reimbursed up to $97,660 for stormwater controls for a parking lot.

Wastewater Management

Lamont Engineers will complete the Study Phase of the community wastewater project for the hamlet of Shokan, for up to $198,872.

Catskill Access Project

Delaware Bulldozing was awarded the job of building a new Willow Parking Area in the Town of Woodstock at a cost of $37,750. This project is listed in and funded under the Catskill Master Plan Stewardship and Planning Project which is being administered by the CWC.

History on Film

Take a ride to Walton Thurs., June 14 for a free 7 p.m. screening of "Indian Summer," a quasi-documentary on the building of the Cannonsville Reservoir. Produced by Folkways Films, the 27-minute movie, made in 1958, shows the impact of the project (1955-1967) on residents and communities. It features local people in 'starring' roles. Fiddler Grant Rogers plays on the soundtrack composed by brothers Pete and Mike Seeger. The film will be shown at the Walton Theater, 30 Gardiner Place, Walton.

Save the Ash Trees

Molly Marchand and Daniel Atha of New York Botanical Garden will lead a free workshop at the Mountaintop Arboretum in Tannersville Sat., June 16 at 1 p.m. on saving our native American ash tree. Participants will learn how to monitor for ash trees that are resistant to the devastating emerald ash borer. (Contd. Pg. 7)

SGA Installation and Induction into Honor Society at Fallsburg

Jaclyn Hatt, Alyssa Sacadura, Jacqueline Maxwell, and Ayanna Princivil performing the candle lighting ceremony for the National Honor Society Induction.

On the evening of May 24, 2018, Fallsburg High School Auditorium was the venue for the installation of all Student Government Association (SGA) officers from 6th grade through 12th grade for the school year 2018-2019. Immediately following was the induction of new members to National Junior High School (NJHS) and National High School Honor Societies (NHS).

In welcoming the students, their families, and school staff, Principal Michael Williams praised the parents for their support of the children's educational achievements. SGA Advisor Isabel Mejia spoke on behalf of Elisa Baum, who was unable to attend, and BCES Faculty Advisor Peter Dworetzky. She acknowledged the students that campaigned for offices during the spring. She and Mrs. Baum were looking forward to working with them all next fall. A Executive Council President Tulsi Patel gave her address of welcome and enthusiasm for the exciting work they will do together.

National Honor Society Advisor Penny Esposito came to the podium on behalf of herself and Co-Advisor Kasey Conrow. In the solemn ceremony that followed existing leaders Jaclyn Hatt, Alyssa Sacadura, Jacqueline Maxwell, and Ayanna Princivil lighted candles representing the four pillars of scholarship, service, leadership and character. Twenty-one students became members of the NJHS; twelve students entered the NHS.

At the end of the evening, everyone moved to the school cafeteria to enjoy a delicious dessert.

Tri-Valley Teachers' Association Recognizes Partners in Education

(From Pg. 1) On Friday, June 8, the TVTA recognized all of our secretaries, aides, custodians, and other support staff members in our district. We provided them a breakfast that seemed to be enjoyed by all.

Also on Friday, June 8, Mrs. Huggler, Mrs. Brooks, and the Barista Bears took a field trip to bring bagels and other breakfast items to our bus drivers. We also appreciate all they do!

As the saying goes, it takes a village to raise a child. We are grateful for each and every one of our partners in education. Thank you for all you do!

7-12th Grade Students are Invited to Attend the Catskills Youth Climate Summit

Claryville - Cornell Cooperative Extension of Delaware County is currently accepting applications from students in grades 7-12 and teachers in the Catskill region to attend the 2018 Catskills Youth Climate Summit. This free overnight summit will take place Tuesday-Wednesday, October 9-10, 2018 at Frost Valley YMCA in Claryville.

The Summit gives students an opportunity to attend presentations and workshops on climate change and sustainability. Additionally, attendees are invited to participate in group discussions and activities that are designed to challenge perceptions, brainstorm solutions, and discover new ways to live more sustainable lifestyles.

The Catskills Youth Climate Summit will include meals and an overnight stay in a Frost Valley cabin. Schools are required to provide their own transportation to and from Frost Valley. The number of participants may be limited based on funding.

For more information or to apply to attend the Youth Climate Summit, go to ccedelaware.org/youth-summit. Contact Cornell Cooperative Extension of Delaware County at 607-865-6531 or email jmd30@cornell.edu if you have any questions.

The Scene Too

(From Pg. 1) these wonderful additions come from Story's Neversink Plant Company and if you haven't made an appointment to stop by, you should. For someone like myself who enjoys the unusual - even bizarre in all things, this was an immense treat. Amid the traditional fare, are tucked some of the most unusual succulents I have ever seen. succulents are a great house plant for person's like myself whose thumb tends more to be purple than green and I am contemplating a small indoor garden of them to keep some life in my home over the next insane Catskills winter we know is coming.

In addition to the banana trees, the Neversink General Store has added a BBQ shed and outdoor seating for your summer weekend lunching at the top of the hill. The shed features the pulled pork and brisket sandwiches we have come to love. But if these are not high on your list of munching fare (not everyone loves these the way I do) you will be delighted to know that the shed also offers simple alternatives like fresh tuna kabobs (!) or veggie pizza (!) OK, maybe not so simple but ultimately delicious and all are prepared with you in mind. Now the alternate options change every weekend and you can be absolutely sure Chef Jaime will have something for everyone.

While you're there, take a walk through the Farmer's Market. Although it is still too early to find many fresh veggies, you can wander and chat with some of the most creative woodworking, pottery, jewelry and photographic artists in the area and those who produce the local honeys, meats, maple syrup, and herbals you've come to love. And yes, you can also stop by Story's Neversink Plant Company booth and see EXACTLY what I spoke of. And who knows, maybe next year you can stop by MY table and say hello. Until next time....

Ethelbert B. Crawford Public Library 1st Annual Library Playdate

On Saturday, June 2nd, children and families from all over the county gathered at the Ethelbert B. Crawford Public Library in Monticello for the 1st Annual Library Playdate. Because of threatening the weather, the event, which was originally planned to be outdoors, had to be held indoors but this didn't dampen the mood at all. Over 100 people, infants to grandparents, were in attendance and enjoyed playing together at 11 different sensory stations including pools full of moon sand, water, orbeez, and cloud dough. But, the fan favorite was, by far, the bubble wrap wall! Children of all ages love popping those bubbles! Children made new friends, parents got ideas for fun activities at home, everyone made a big mess and the best part---everyone got to go home to a clean house while the library cleaned up the mess! While this event is over until next year, there are loads of wonderful things happening at all of our local libraries this year. This program was sponsored by the who work tirelessly to promote all of the amazing things that the library offers. For more information on upcoming programs at EBCPL visit our website at ebcpl.org or find us on facebook, instagram, or twitter. The library is located at 479 Broadway in Monticello. Programs are offered for adults, teens, and children. Most programs are free and open to the public, regardless of your home district.

2018 One Acts Festival at SCDW

South Fallsburg, NY) Six short plays will be presented at the 2018 One Acts Festival takes the stage at the Rivoli Theatre in South Fallsburg as the Sullivan County Dramatic Workshop season continues. The longest standing Community Theatre organization in our area, the SCDW has provided quality, award-winning productions since 1950. Performances will be held June 8-10, 15-17. Producer, Jim Schmidt has put together the program and Stage Manager, Dawn Perneszi keeps the production moving smoothly. Snow Stars by Anne Sawyer is a timeless piece that speaks of loss, love and a time long ago shared by two old souls. Directed by Heather Strauss and featuring Harold Tighe and Kim Schneeberger. Locked Away by Peter Nastasi is the story of a championship team, a beloved coach, and dark secrets revealed. Directed by Harold Tighe and featuring Jim Fedroff, Peter Nastasi and Harold Tighe. Sometimes all is not as it seems, as we find out in Snakes in a Lunch Box by Arthur M. Jolley. Directed by Harold Tighe and featuring Nicole Lavere, Jayden Ramsay and Hannah Veety. In Rough Day on the Street by Eitan Loewenstein, the humans of Sesame Street are convinced that the Muppets are not only real, but out to get them. Will the humans rise to take out the Muppets or will they collapse under the pressure? Directed by Josh Rosengrant and featuring Rudy Dieudonne, Kim Schneeberger, Chris Renninger and Mekayla Perneszi. Look Me in the Eye by Lindsay Price brings us to a future where teenagers are obedient, polite and respectful. This is due in large part to the government-required "Observation Sessions." But there's a dark underside to his Utopian vision. After learning her brother is scheduled to be "observed," one of the most obedient students starts to question the system. She must decide whether to remain obedient or speak out and face the consequences. Directed by Kim Schneeberger, the cast includes Nicole Lavere, Becky Salerno, Hannah Veety, Julia Kurthy and Mekayla Perneszi. Mrs. Sorkin by Christopher Durang is a monologue to explain drama...sort of. Amber Schmidt directs and performs.

The One Act Festival will be staged in the Nartoff-Wells Auditorium of the Rivoli Theatre, 5243 Route 42 (Main Street), South Fallsburg with performances Friday and Saturday, June 8, 9, 15, 16 at 8:00 pm and Sunday, June 10, 17 at 2:00 pm. General Admission is $15 for Adults, $12 for Seniors (60+), Students with a valid Student ID, Military and Veterans. Tickets will be available at the box office one hour before curtain for each performance or can be purchased in advance online at www.ShowTix4U.com. For additional information, log onto www.SCDW.net or phone (845) 436-5336.

The Greater Liberty Chamber of Commerce is proud to announce the launch of its Travel Brochure on time for this summer's travel season!

As the excitement of Liberty's revitalization begins to mount, so has the need to market what Liberty already has to offer! With almost sixty advertisers, it is clear that the project was very well received. The brochure features the history of Liberty and its hamlets of Ferndale, Parksville, White Sulphur Springs, Swan Lake, and its Village as well as information on its community events, museums, parks and helpful phone numbers for residents and travelers. It is a showcase of Liberty's proud and successful businesses.

As promised to the advertisers, additional proceeds due to the overwhelming advertiser support was used to print additional quantities, bringing the total number of brochures printed from 5,000 to 10,000! Distribution began on Memorial Day Weekend. The brochures can be found at participating businesses, rest-stops on the NYS Thruway and other high-traffic locations throughout Sullivan County. In addition, the brochure and its advertisers can be seen on the Greater Liberty Chamber of Commerce website at www.LibertyNYChamber.com.

DEC Launches New Disclosure Program to Protect Consumers from Chemicals in Household Cleaning Products

New York is First State in the Nation to Require Manufacturers to Disclose Chemical Ingredients in Cleaning Product • New Program Gives Consumers Information about Potentially Harmful Chemicals

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation Commissioner Basil Seggos announced today the release of New York's final policy and form for manufacturer disclosures under the State's Household Cleansing Product Information Disclosure Program. Introduced in Governor Cuomo's 2017 State of the State, the Household Cleansing Product Information Disclosure program requires manufacturers of cleaning products sold in New York to disclose chemical ingredients, as well as other information, on their websites. New York will be the first state in the nation to require such disclosure and the State's program goes beyond initiatives in other states by requiring the robust disclosure of byproducts and contaminants, as well as chemicals with the potential to trigger asthma in adults and children.

DEC Commissioner Basil Seggos said, "Protecting New Yorkers and the environment from harmful chemicals is of the utmost importance to the state, and Governor Cuomo is leading the nation by requiring these manufacturers to disclose information about all of the chemicals that might be found in household cleaning products, including byproducts and other impurities. The Household Cleansing Product Information Disclosure Program will help the state better understand what chemical hazards the public is exposed to, especially from products made in countries with less protective environmental laws than the United States, and reduce exposure to chemicals of concern."

Household Cleansing Product Information Disclosure Program

Overseen by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC), the Household Cleansing Product Information Disclosure Program requires manufacturers to disclose the name and unique chemical number of all intentionally added ingredients, including fragrances; all byproducts, such as 1,4 Dioxane, including those present in trace quantities that appear on state, national or international lists of identified chemicals of concern; and any impurity due to environmental contamination present in trace quantities that appear on such lists and are present above levels found in well-regulated public water systems located in the United States.

Additional disclosures required by the program include a prominent statement regarding the nature and extent of information being withheld as confidential business information; the listing of ingredients in order of predominance by weight; a clear method of indicating that a chemical has been identified as a chemical of concern; the provision of a toll-free number to answer consumer requests for more information; and the posting of studies the manufacturer has conducted on the health and environmental effects of any of its products and ingredients.

The Household Cleansing Product Information Disclosure Program is the result of extensive discussions with a variety of stakeholders, including industry, private citizens, state agencies, and advocacy groups, as well as a lengthy public comment period. Significant changes were made to DEC's original proposal to better address concerns raised by the stakeholders. In addition to this information appearing on manufacturer websites by July 1, 2019, DEC is working with the Interstate Chemicals Clearinghouse to develop and maintain a database of links to the disclosed information for ease of consumer access.

More information about the Household Cleansing Product Information Disclosure Program and the certification form can be found on DEC's website.

"We thank Governor Cuomo and the Department of Environmental Conservation for this leadership action. New York's new cleaning product ingredient disclosure program is both years in the making and incredibly timely. It will help workers and families identify which products are healthiest. Coupled with a recent law in California, it creates a strong national model and will benefit not only New Yorkers, but all Americans. We look forward to the Governor's continued leadership on product ingredient disclosure for personal care products," said Kathleen Curtis, Executive Director of Clean and Healthy New York.

It is expected that New York's approach to cleaning product ingredient disclosure will serve as an example that can be expanded into other sectors of public disclosure or mirrored by other governments.

Work Week with Congressman Faso

House Starts Appropriations Process - Funds Veteran Priorities and Military Infrastructure

Funding the government is one of Congress's primary responsibilities. I am encouraged that the House passed three separate appropriations bills this week. The bills provide funding to necessary veterans' programs, military infrastructure projects, support military families, and invest in our nation's energy and water infrastructure.

The Department of Veterans Affairs is funded at $85.3 billion - the largest amount for the VA ever. These funds are needed for critical priorities within the VA including improved access to health care, quicker claims processing, and support for crucial programs such as suicide prevention, mental health outreach, and opioid abuse prevention.

Talking Immigration Negotiations with NPR

I spoke with Steve Inskeep of NPR on Morning Edition about ongoing negotiations over immigration legislation in the House. I am hoping these negotiations result in a reasonable compromise that strengthens our security at the southern border, empowers New York farmers to fill open jobs with seasonal workers, and legalizes the status of DACA recipients so long as they're working, receiving an education and have clean records. This negotiation was made possible by use of a parliamentary procedure known as a "discharge petition," which I and other House GOP members have signed. This procedure has brought all sides in this process to the negotiating table and I'm encouraged by progress being made as of Friday evening.

Listen to the full interview here: <https://www.npr.org/2018/06/07/617799809/house-republicans-aim-to-find-a-path-forward-on-immigration>

Trade War Threatens Upstate Jobs

A trade war invites unintended consequences such as retaliation measures placed on American goods by our trading partners. I'm particularly concerned as to retaliatory measures affecting our dairy and fruit producers. Dairy products and fruit exports generate important cash revenue for our agricultural economy.

By imposing tariffs on Canada and Mexico, two of our closest trading partners, the administration has put other unrelated industries at risk of economic stress. I've met with multiple local manufacturers who've already experienced 30-50% increases in the cost of steel and aluminum. I and others have expressed our concern to the Trump Administration about use of a national security rationale to impose tariffs on the EU and Canada, which are our military allies. New York State has over 600,000 jobs directly related to US/Canada trade. While the Canadians have certain policies which are unfair to our dairy and lumber industries, we need to avoid the repercussions from an all-out trade war, especially with allies. I continue to hope that the Administration will focus more attention on China, which is the largest source of trade tension with the US.

Visit to B&B Forest Products

I had the chance to visit B&B Forest Products, a family-owned enterprise in Greene County, to learn more about their business and the changing trade dynamics in the logging industry. China recently issued regulatory changes on logs exported from the US with no advanced notice, resulting in millions of dollars in product being stuck in limbo. Logging businesses in Greene, Sullivan and Ulster counties contacted me and we got to work on this issue.

Last month, I urged U.S. Department of Agriculture Secretary Sonny Perdue to prioritize a fair resolution during trade negotiations for American loggers in this regulatory dispute.

Just this week, Secretary Perdue informed us that the General Administration of Customs of the People's Republic of China (GACC) began allowing renewed import of US logs which had been caught up in this dispute. I will continue to work in partnership with my colleagues and Secretary Perdue to ensure that American exports are handled fairly. I also plan to seek a meeting with the Chinese agricultural trade attaché in Washington to further discuss resolution of this issue.

Land and Water Conservation Fund Benefitting New York's Economy

I met with representatives from the League of Conservation Voters to discuss the Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF), one of our nation's most important outdoor recreation and conservation programs. The LWCF authorization expires at the end of September, and I've been a vocal advocate of permanently reauthorizing this beneficial program.

In August of 2017, I hiked on the Boniello Property in Pawling that borders the Appalachian Trail. Earlier this year, language was included in the Omnibus spending bill to acquire this property using LWCF funds to protect sensitive wildlife habitats and preserve the scenery of the trail. Hiking and camping on the Appalachian Trail as well as on the countless other scenic trails is an important part of New York's outdoor economy. The outdoor recreational economy contributes millions of dollars to our economy each year as visitors spend money in stores and other businesses while visiting our communities.

Thank you to New York League of Conservation Voters Senior Vice President Joshua Klainberg and Dr. Lewis Morrison of Clifton Park for coming in to discuss these important issues.

Three Federal Agencies Launch Action Plan to Improve Veterans Services

Stemming from an executive order earlier this year, the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, the U.S. Department of Defense (DoD), and the Department of Homeland Security have launched an action plan to improve mental health care for transitioning service members.

VA research has shown that service members transitioning out of service and back into civilian life are at greater risk of facing significant mental health challenges. This is an important step in continuing our commitment to improve veteran's healthcare services.

"Tee It Up for Mental Health" Golf Tournament

The Tenth Annual "Tee It Up for Mental Health" Golf Tournament to benefit NAMI Sullivan County, NY was played on Sunday, June 3rd at the Tarry Brae Golf Course in Fallsburg.

World War I Comes to Museum

Hurleyville, NY - The Sullivan County Historical Society invites you to the opening of its new exhibit commemorating the centennial of World War I titled "The Great War - World War I". The opening will take place on June 16 and 17.

Cookie House, Sally Gladden, Ellen Pavloff and Fran Schiff of The Catskill Readers' Theatre prepare for "WORLD WAR I," an original program featuring local soldiers' letters, music and literature. Missing from the picture are Albee Bockman, Paul Preurschvner and Bunny Woloszyak.

At 2 p.m. both days, there will be a special performance by the Catskill Readers Theatre. Members of the theater group will perform music of the era and read archival letters sent to the folks at home during the war. Some of the veterans writing home came from Monticello, Fallsburg, Middletown, Glen Wild, Liberty, and Parksville.

The program will be held at the Sullivan County Museum and Cultural Center, 265 Main Street, Hurleyville. The exhibition and performance will look back at World War I and the Sullivan County families who had relatives that served. The event will include a video of images relating to the war.

The performances on June 16 and 17 are part of the New York "Path Through History" weekend. Museum hours are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, and Sunday 1-4:30 p.m.

Admission is free; however, donations are accepted. For more information, visit www.scnyhistory.org or call 845-434-8044.

The exhibit of WWI memorabilia, pictures and articles will continue to be on display until "Armistice Day", November 11, 2018. If you have artifacts that you would like to donate or loan to the Sullivan County Historical Society for this display, please call President Suzanne Cecil at 845-434-8044.

Spots Still Open:

7th Annual Caregiver Wellness Retreat

CLARYVILLE, NY- Informal family caregivers and their care receivers with early to mid-stage Alzheimer's disease or other dementia-related illnesses are invited to the 7th Annual Caregiver Wellness Retreat Tuesday, June 19, 2018 from 11:00 am to 3:00 pm.

Cornell Cooperative Extension Sullivan County's Caregiver Resource Center has collaborated with Alzheimer's Association Hudson Valley NY Chapter and other partners to offer this FREE event to residents of Sullivan and Orange Counties. The retreat is hosted each year by Frost Valley YMCA, located on 2000 Frost Valley Road in Claryville.

Participants can enjoy a relaxing day with stress reduction activities including massage, crafts, music, gentle exercise, and exploring the historic Forstman Castle on site. A FREE picnic lunch is included.

Bus transportation to the event is available from Liberty, Monticello, and Wurtsboro.

This event is free. Registration is required in advance by visiting www.sullivanccc.org, emailing sullivan@cornell.edu, or calling CCESC at 845-292-6180. In the event of special needs, the public should contact the CCESC office.

This program is supported in part by a grant from the New York State Department of Health.

Tailgate Talks" Discussion Groups with Experienced Local Farmers

SULLIVAN COUNTY, NY-More than 20% of farmers are beginning farmers, with less than ten years of farming experience, according to the national Farm Bureau.

A unique Beginning Farmer Tailgate Talks series of rotating farm-hosted potlucks, intended for new and beginning farmers, will begin Wednesday, June 13, 2018 at Gorzynski Ornery Farm on 7460 Route 52 in Narrowsburg, NY. All Tailgate Talks will be held from 5:30 to 8:00 pm. Participants are asked to bring a dish or beverage to share.

Cornell Cooperative Extension Sullivan County (CCESC) offers this FREE series of honest discussions about farming and marketing products throughout the growing season, from the point of view of successful farmers in the Sullivan Catskills. Participants can network, learn the diversity of industry options available, and develop relationships within the agricultural community.

Gorzynski Ornery Farm was created by owner John Gorzynski almost forty years ago. Gorzynski Ornery Farm is a diverse farm that produces over 500 varieties of vegetables and fruit. The farm generates its own fertility derived from a crop rotation that favors more green manure and fallow than production. The products are available at farmers' markets, Union Square, and restaurants.

Tailgate Talks series of dates include:

Tuesday, July 10 • Winterton Farm • 689 Winterton Rd, Bloomingburg, NY

Monday, August 20 • Gorzynski Ornery Farm • 7460 Route 52, Narrowsburg

Tuesday, September 18 • Majestic Farm • 134 Majestic Road, Mountain Dale, NY

This series is FREE. Registration can be completed online at www.sullivanccc.org, by emailing sullivan@cornell.edu, or calling 845-292-6180. In the event of special needs, please contact the CCESC office.

Willow Wisp Organic Farm Tour and Solar Info Gathering

Damascus, PA- Willow Wisp Organic Farm in partnership with the Clean Energy Co-op will host a free community farm tour, meal, and information sharing session about an exciting solar energy project in development at Willow Wisp Organic Farm in Damascus, PA.

The event will take place on Sunday, June 24 and begin at 3 PM with a tour of the 30-acre organic vegetable and flower farm owned and operated by Greg Swartz and Tannis Kowalchuk. Located along the Delaware River, Greg and Tannis will invite guests for a guided tour of the fields, the greenhouses and the operations of their expanding agricultural business.

Following the tour, guests are invited to share farm fresh food prepared by the Willow Wisp kitchen team and learn all about the exciting collaboration between Willow Wisp Organic Farm and the Clean Energy Coop to install 168 solar panels (50kW) on their renovated barn.

Willow Wisp Organic Farm and the Clean Energy Coop extend an invitation to our community to come out, bring your friends, your boots, enjoy farm fresh food, and meet with others who care about healthy food, clean renewable energy, and the common good. Help us build a more sustainable community!

If individuals wish to learn more about the Co-op or become a member, there are a limited number of discount memberships available. Visit www.cleanenergy.coop for more information.

DEC 'On The Front Lines' Video Features

Ship Captains Alan Fairbanks & Doug Zeller

The New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) is proud to present the latest episode of "On the Front Lines," the agency's video series profiling staff and their work to conserve the environment, protect New York's natural resources, and serve the public.

"We are proud of this series, which gives the public a behind-the-scenes look at the great work our dedicated employees do every day across the state to preserve and protect the environment for generations to come," DEC Commissioner Basil Seggos said. "It's also an opportunity for New Yorkers to get to know our employees and the reasons they chose careers at DEC. A special thanks to DEC Ship Captains Alan Fairbanks and Doug Zeller for their work operating and maintaining research vessels to study the aquatic life that inhabits New York's waters."

The latest episode featuring Alan Fairbanks and Doug Zeller (link leaves DEC's website) can be viewed on DEC's YouTube channel.

Alan Fairbanks is the ship captain for the fisheries research vessel 'Seth Green,' out of Cape Vincent, NY. The Seth Green conducts biological assessments of fish on Lake Ontario to provide information necessary to manage the lake's resources. Fairbanks has always had an interest in boats and fishing, which makes his position at DEC an ideal fit.

Doug Zeller is the Research Vessel Captain for the 'Argo,' which is based at the Dunkirk Fisheries Station and conducts annual assessment of Lake Erie's fish stocks. Zeller, an Ohio native, started off as the head of a commercial fishing business before moving to New York.

Both Lake Ontario and Lake Erie are consistently ranked among the top fishing destinations in the country by national publications. Lake Ontario and its embayments and tributaries comprise more than 2.7 million acres and support thriving populations of fish, including a variety of trout, salmon, bass, walleye, yellow perch, and panfish.

A recent statewide angler survey estimated that more than 2.6 million angler days were spent on Lake Ontario and major tributaries. The estimated value of these fisheries exceeded $112 million annually to local economies.

Lake Erie, considered among the world's top bass and wall-eye fishing destinations, is one of the most heavily fished waters in the state, generating more than $26 million in economic activity annually.

As part of Governor Andrew M. Cuomo's NY Open for Fishing and Hunting Initiative, which is aimed at increasing outdoor recreational opportunities in New York, the State is making significant improvements to DEC's fish hatchery system and waterway access facilities. Since 2014, $14 million in NY Works funding has been budgeted for hatchery improvements. Under the 2018-19 Executive Budget Proposal, New York's Open for Fishing and Hunting Initiative provides $19.5 million for state land access projects and an additional $4 million for fish and wildlife infrastructure.

'On the Front Lines' is posted monthly on DEC's YouTube channel, and Twitter pages. Watch past episodes on DEC's YouTube channel (the previous links leave DEC's website).
